The Hague belongs to all of us.

So the city must work for everyone
— not just those who are already well off.

Too many residents of The Hague are falling behind while the city grows richer. Rents are rising. Debts are piling up. Discrimination is brushed aside. The youth are looking for their future elsewhere. We do not accept this.

We opt for clear choices:

- A tough approach to discrimination.
Equal opportunities are not a favor, but a right.
- Housing is a right, not a profit model.
Tackle vacancy. Protect Tenants.
More social housing in every neighborhood.
- Fight poverty at its root. Less rules, more trust.
Resolve debts in a humane way.
- Free public transportation. Mobility is a public service, not a market product.
- People over profit.
Public services back in public hands.
- A climate-just city.
Major polluters pay. Residents benefit.

We believe that politics is not about empty words, but about who you protect. About who you give priority to. About who you allow to have a say in decision-making.

We choose a side:

For tenants, for people in debt, for the youth, for makers.
For everyone who is too often forgotten today.
